Peabody & Arnold attorney Catherine Kelleher was recently honored for her pro bono legal work on behalf of Father's Uplift, an organization which "provides mental health counseling, coaching, advocacy, and resource support to assist fathers with overcoming barriers (racism, emotional, traumatic, and addiction-based barriers) that prevent them from remaining engaged in their children's lives" (<https://www.fathersuplift.org/>). In recognition of her service, Catherine was given the Amicus Mundi Award by the We The Action legal network. More details on the award and Catherine's commitment to community service can be found here.
